I have purchased and used Microsoft software for over 15 years. I have tried others and always came back to Microsoft. I do not believe that other companies should be given the technology that Microsoft designed. Let these other companies come up with their own. Too much money has been spent punishing a company that was only carrying out the idea of free enterprise. I suggest that more time be spent on matters that will protect us as individuals from something serious. Respectfully submitted D. Carroll Brackett
